INQUINA ATAMÁN

Colloquially referred to as “restorative”, Atamán Inquina was never considered a wine of great value, having never received any awards or recognition and being treated with some aversion.

40 YEARS OF WAITING, CONCENTRATING BITTERNESS

If 40 years is redeeming, its time has come. Now it can go out into the world flaunting its bad reputation, provocative. It is as if over this time it has concentrated bitterness, preparing for its return, insulting, threatening... and only within reach of daredevils.
