

sábalo

Barbadillo is a family winery with 200 years of history in Sanlúcar de Barrameda (Cádiz) and with a lot of involvement with the environment. This includes the "Cielo, Tierra y Mar" organic wine collection which aims to offer a range of exquisite wines that at the same time contribute to spreading the word to preserve the local environment.

SÁBALO, the Spanish name for shad, to pay homage to this humble fish that used to swim in generous shoals up the Guadalquivir River (and up the Guadalete, twenty kilometres along the coast). Today the shad has practically disappeared, along this coast because river dams prevent its annual migration upstream to spawn.
